Instant replay: 1966-76

In a few hours the light of dawn would break over the press box atop the sunken baseball stadium. On the field below, artificial lights continued to glow in the chilly darkness.

A softball game was still in progress.

This game, the second of a doubleheader, had begun the night before - at 9:30. The opening game of the series had gone five extra innings, finishing in the 12th inning. But who could remember that long ago?

It was now 2:30 a.m. Sunday. Sunrise services were already scheduled in that same stadium in a matter of a few hours. It could turn out to be the first church service ever to be conducted while peanuts and popcorn were being sold in the aisles and the crack of a bat punctuating the choir's solos.

But the 18 weary ball players who continued to wander, bleary eved, back onto the field every 15 minutes or so weren't thinking about the coming sunrise and its accompanying alleluhas. After 24 innings of intense softball rivalry, their only thoughts were on breaking that 1-1 tie that had held them deadlocked since the final regulation seventh inning, some four hours earlier

And, to add further to the oddity of this twilight scenario, they weren't alone in their quest. There were better than 100 fans still in the bleachers of Sun City Stadium, determined to stay to the last out - whatever day of the week it might fall upon.

The stadium announcer, gravelnothing but Listerine on the rocks, continued to repeat the batting order as each inning passed into the levity in the tradition of a latefans from slipping into a comatose managed a 14th place finish.

It was a quarter to three in the pushed across the plate on a single to the outfield and the Sun City Saints claimed a most memorable victory. The 25-inning test of endurance had fallen but a few innings short of earning a place in the record books. But no one suggested trying again.

As fans trickled through the gates on their way home, the girls headed for the parking lot, numbly aware that at 6 o'clock that same evening they would return to the same stadium to begin the third game of their four-game series. They didn't know it at the time, but those next two games would run another 17 innings.

During that weekend of back-toback doubleheaders against the Pacific Coast league-leading Lionettes of Orange, California, the two teams amassed a total of 54 innings of head-to-head competition.

And no one was more painfully aware of the marathon feat than Saints pitcher Paula Noel. She had been on the mound for all 54

The stage was set for this dramatic duel several years past, but the rivalry between the Saints and the Lionettes has for years drawn crowds in excess of 2,000 to Sun City Stadium. But the intense competitive spirit that draws the fans to those games underlines the quality that is inherent in women's softball today. Women's softball has been around for decade upon decade, but it bloomed in Sun City in 1966, the first season the Saints brought its excitement to that community. In 1965, the community decided to adopt these homeless gals, left without a sponsor when the perennial national powerhouse PBSW Ramblers of Phoenix decided to discontinue its sponsorship of a fast-pitch softball team. In 1966, the Saints began a 41-game schedule under the sponsorship of the Sun City Merchants Association and the Del E. Webb Corporation.

That pioneer team, playing out of a little park built at Grand and 108th avenues gained acceptance to the Pacific Coast Women's Softball League, one of the premier leagues in the nation, but found it difficult picking up where the renowned Ramblers had left off. They won throated by now and drinking but 22 of their 41 games, finishing fourth in the PCWSL. They did however win their first regional tourney, the Cactus regionals, next, occasionally offering stabs at played that year in Sun City, and gained the right to move into the night Johnny Carson to keep the nationals in Florida where they

That first regional tourney win in title 1966 has led to 10 straight regional morning before the final run was victories, thus earning for them the right to vie for the national title 10 vears running

While they have yet to stake a claim to the top honor, the past several years have found them among the top three finishers, including a second-place trophy in 1974. Should the Saints finally attain the summit of women's amateur softball, they will be the first team to bring the national title

1966 was not only the year this

mitted the moniker "Saints" and thus it has stood. For his efforts, Kingslev received a season pass and gift certificates from the team's sponsors - and a place a fame of sorts that still continues.

The 1967 edition of the Saints added a few more games to their schedule - and a few more wins, finishing 28-17. But nothing to set the sportswriters on their ears -

Again they won the Cactus Regionals and traveled on to the nationals, this time at Stratford, Connecticut, home of the Raybestos Brakettes. The Brakettes were the reigning national champs.

That was not to be the year for a repeat by the Brakettes, as the Orange, Calif., Lionettes defeated them in the title contest, 4-1, and became the No. 1 team in the nation for their seventh time.

Nor was it the year for the Saints. After winning their first two contests, they were downed by the Lionettes who went on to the

But there were some noteworthy events in that 1967 season. It was the year that 17-year veteran Rosie Andrade announced her retirement from softball, turning the role over to rookie Lynn Mooney, who has been holding down that position as a regular ever since. It signalled, to some extent the beginning of the influx of young talent for the Saints, the key that in the past few years has been paying big dividends as those rookies have seasonback to Arizona since the Ramblers ed into outstanding veteran play-

The following year, 1968 brought few changes and little indication that the Saints would eventually be battling for the nation's No. 1 ranking. The team played 48 games that year, winning 29, and (ho-hum) grabbing their third straight Cactus Regional tourney. For all their efforts in their trip to the nationals that year, they managed but one win in the tournament at Stratford, Conn.

come until the following year. But 1969 was a different story. It was a year of "firsts."

1969 was the first year the team played without a sponsor, after the Merchants (association had helped them get the start they needed. The team felt that after three years, they were established enough in the community to meet their expenses for the year from the gate receipts.

first baseman and outfielder. Her adjustment to a pitching role didn't

And it was the first time that the team would be run under the tutelage of a former player, Bev Dryer. The ASU graduate, an eighthteacher who spent her summers playing softball, had progressed through the leagues, playing for the Webster's Dairy team in Glendale as a youngster and moving to the Mesa Dudettes and then to the Ramblers. When the Ramblers disbanded, she initiated the development of the Saints and took it upon herself to organize the club in addition to maintaining her duties behine the plate as a catcher.

It was also the year of the birth of the "Angel Award," given each year since to the person or persons who have contributed outstanding support to the Saints and their success in Sun City.

That first award went to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Liken, grounds superintendent at the Saints' field.

The emphasis that year was on young talent (the average age was 19) and the fundamentals of the game, which Bev set about to build into the program. The atmosphere for learning was certainly ripe that year that Bev took over, for the entire team consisted of teachers and students.

The 1969 season got off to a fast start, with the gals going 21 games before suffering their first loss, late in May. By the time the year drew to a close, the girls had posted a 32-2 season exhibition record, 46-17 overall, again nailed down the Cactus Regional crown. and moved into the nationals at Tucson. At the regionals, the team dominated the All-Star Team selections, placing six of the nine on that team, and grabbing three of the five tournament awards.

It was the Lionettes, once again, that proved the Saints' downfall that year in the nationals, dropping the Sun City team to the loser's bracket after they had won their first two contests.

But they managed a fifth place finish and, perhaps more important, over 300 fans bussed from Sun City to Tucson to watch "their" team compete with the best. Despite a plague of injuries that year (at second base alone, there were three ankles broken at various times throughout the season), the Saints had finished with their highest national ranking to that point.

Little changed, record-wise, in 1970, but one important change took place on the field. The Saints pitching staff was given added depth and additional years of experience when Billie Harris, the first Black woman All-American in the game, joined the Saints from the Yakima (Wash.) Webb Cats. The ageless pitching wonder, who had led Yakima to a third place finish in the nationals the year before and won the tournament's Most Valuable Player award, was added to bolster a mound crew that now included Lou Kostielney and Shirley Marshall, both of whom were approaching their final years of play, and sometime hurler Paula Miller, who was still playing more outfield than pitcher.

The Sun City Saints doll shown here and appearing on the cover of this issue was designed and built by Maricopa County Detective Bill Kohler in 1971 and presented to Saints owner Bev Dryer. The ceramic figure stands a foot tall and is brightly colored in red and yellow.

While Harris was joining the Saints in 1970, veteran center fielder Dee Everhart was retiring. Everhart had not only been a mainstay in the outfield, but had been a base stealer deluxe for the team. And an additional new look was given the Saints outfield when 16-year-old Barbara Quijada moved into the left field spot left vacant by departing Andie Irvin.

With the coming-and-going of various team members and the roster constantly reflecting the addition of rookies, the Saints managed to keep their youthful look, with the average age 20 years.

Sun City newspaper publisher Burt Freireich was named the recipient of the Angel Award that year, showing the Saints appreciation for the years of assistance he had provided through his newspaper. Freireich was one of the earliest to come forth and endorse the Saints taking up residence in Sun City and has given the team such extensive coverage in his paper, the News-Sun, that it has become the envy of other teams in the league who do not fare so well with their local press.

The Saints finished second in the Pacific Coast league that year, for the second consecutive year behind the Lionettes, and compiled a 40-14 season mark. As per usual, they copped the Cactus Regional title. their fifth straight, and advanced to the nationals where they garnered a ninth place finish. Rau and first baseman Thelma Keith led the team in hitting at the nationals and outfielder Betty McIlvain, Rau and second sacker Sandy Kelley were named to the league All-Star team.

It was a 50-game schedule the Saints faced in 1971, finishing with a 39-11 mark. The gals played 35 of their home games at Peoria High School while awaiting the completion of their new stadium at 111th and Grand avenues. By the time the 3,000-seat structure was completed, the team had time to play 15 games in their up-dated and ultramodern new "home."

Del Webb won the Angel Award that year, and nobody had any trouble guessing why he had won the honor. The new home that he had provided the girls is one of the finest in the country and has been It includes a $12,000 scoreboard and 71/2 acres of parking, adequate for many purposes,

Two new faces were added that year, Becky Rice and Chris Miner. Miner, who played both infield and outfield, was a veteran who was a three-time all-American and had been named to the 1970 National All-Star team. Rice was a rookie, attending school at Glendale Community College, but has since earned a starting role in the Saints'

On the other side of the coin, the Saints lost the services of two veterans that year, Kostielney and Betty McIlvain. Kostielney had also served as assistant coach before retiring, leaving Bev Dryer now in full command. McIlvain, an outfielder and 17-year veteran, had been an original Saint.

The Saints earned their sixth straight Cactus Regional title in '71 and survived four national title contests before being dropped and finishing in eighth place nationally.

The Billie Harris acquisition proved to be a wise move as she won the Saints' the Most Valuable Player award that year. And, for Thelma Keith, it was equally eventful as she assumed the role of team manager and accomplished at the plate what every ball player would envy. She collected four home runs that year from Lionette All-America pitcher Nancy Wellborn, most valuable player at the national

In 1972, the Saints roster began to stabilize with the addition of three rookies who have moved into regular starting roles since. Judy Hoke joined the Saints from the Copperstate Softball League where she had been playing, moving into the Saints outfield. Denny Buchanan was also added to the outfield, a youngster just departing high school, and Lee Ann Easley joined the club from the Las Vegas Belles of the Copperstate League where she was an infielder.

The schedule included 88 games that year, with the Saints finishing with an impressive 70-18 record and moving on to their seventh straight regional crown. But despite their strong showing throughout the year, hopes were dashed at the nationals when the gals were blitzed in their first two games and dropped from tournament competi-

Six Saints were named to the regional All-Star first team in '72: catcher Linda Spradley (who joined the team in mid-season to act as a temporary replacement for injured catcher Marilyn Rau), Miller, Keith, Mooney, Quijada (now used for the past several years by marriage at that season's start), and Hoke. In addition, the team added four players to the league's All-Star team: Keith, Hoke, Thomas, and shortstop Kurtz.

Again, it was personnel changes that marked 1973, as second baseman Sandy Kelley retired after eight seasons with the team, leaving Rau the only original member of that first Saints team who remains active. That year's newcomers included Georgia Buelow and Cheryl Stice. Buelow, a pitcher/outfielder had been with the Saints during the 69-71 seasons, but left for a season after suffering a knee injury prior to the start of the '72 season. Stice came to the Saints from Kansas, where she played left field for the Mokan Drifters.

But even more notable, it was the year that Bev Dryer stepped down as coach, turning the reins over to long-time softball player Gerald Stapley and devoting more of her time to her profession. Bev still holds the Saints' franchise, but has found her spare time dwindling as she has assumed a recent role as athletic director for women's sports in the Phoenix Union High School

Stapley took the team to two impressive finishes in national competition before departing in 1974.

In '73, the Sun City lasses compiled a 67-13 season record and finished third in the nationals. Their season mark the following year was 66-12 and they moved into a second place national finish, losing to a strong Raybestos Brakettes team who has held the crown every year since 1971. (The Saints had defeated Raybestos 1-0 in the semi-finals the

The Saints marched through the national competition in '74, coming down to the wire to face the Brakettes and only needing one win out of a possible two games to wrap it up. Both games ended in 1-0 decisions, both going into extra innings for the title.

1973 was obviously the year that Paula Miller Noel was coming into her own rite as a standout on the mound, as she pitched her way to a no-hitter against the league powerhouse Lionettes.

It was time for a change of major proportions again in 1975 as Thelma Keith moved into the coaches box, upped the season mark to 76 wins and 13 losses. making it 10 straight regional crowns, and took the team to a fourth place finish at the nationals.

Over the years, there have been a number of factors responsible for bringing the Saints to the pinnacle where they now rest and continue to give them the hopes of becoming the team to bring that national crown back to Arizona after these many years. Since the club is not professional and players receive no pay for their services, there has to be a dedication that keeps them coming back each year.

And there is youth. The average age of the players continues to range in the early 20s and the number of youngsters showing up in the spring (as many as 60) to try out for a spot on the Saints' "farm' teams (those teams for girls of a younger age who need to gain experience before moving into the league), are good indicators for the future.

Martha Washington: America's first First Lady

By JEANNE TRO WILLIAMS Republic Women's Editor

Gen. George Washington called his wife by a loving nickname, Patsy. Martha Washington was short, plump and sleek as a shiny pigeon, and not at all like the starchy lady on candy box covers.

There's not much question that she was one of early America's great wives, and it was an era of superlatively brave and able Women's lives in that time are as hard to understand in today's terms as space travel would be to Martha Washington. Here's what Martha's life was like after she married Washington and took charge of the household at Mount Vernon.

It was a large thriving estate, a small kingdom. Almost everything worn, eaten or used was made or grown right there, under Washington's keen soldier's eye.

Martha carried a bunch of keys on a ring at her belt, and each morning she led a jingling parade of house slaves and servants

As she proceeded, she unlocked doors to wine cellars, pantries and supply rooms and gave each servant orders for the day. That done, there were studies for children, Jack and Patsy Custis — they were children, Jack and Patsy Custis — they were children, Jack and Patsy Custis — they were how to be made to the following the pattern of the proceeding of the pattern o

There were menus to be planned with the cook, laundresses to check with, supplies to cate, arrangement. Cook, laundresses to the check with, supplies to cate, arrangement. Seemstresses to train. All clothing for servants and most for the family was made on the estate.

Before dinner there was another round as Martha relocked doors, checked furniture for gleam, windows for glisten, silver for

It was like the management of a hotel. The Washingtons were lavish hosts, and there were always guests at Mount Vernon. Entire families of relatives and friends came and stayed for months.

And while she worked as hard as any of her servants, Martha Washington lived with the shadow of griefs past, present and inevitably to come. She loved her first husband, Daniel Custis, and he left her widowed after a few years. They had four children. Only Jack and Fatsy lived past infancy, and Patswified before womanifood. Patsy died before womanhood.

But that's the way life was in those days when everyone was in jeopardy from fevers, food poisoning, primitive medicine and worse sanitation.

It's one of history's miracles that the squalling young republic found a general in George Washington who could cut us loose from England — and a statesman who could

The tall young man was shy with women, but already a successful soldier, surveyor and landholder. She inherited from Custis a and indunder. She inherited from Custis a plantation, other houses, and quite a lot of money. With all respect, there's evidence that Washington found the Custis widow's wealth as attractive as her small person, altogether a pleasing package for the ambi-tious young squire of Mount Vernon.

After two visits to the Custis plantation an agreement was seemingly reached be-cause Washington sent to his London agent for lots of personal linens and finery and "enough blue velveteen for a fine suit."

They were married Jan. 6, 1759, at the Custis plantation. Martha wore yellow bro-cade, her hair was powdered to silvery white and looped with pearls. Her small children, according to custom, were dressed like miniature adults and seemed pleased with their strong and kind new father.

Saints to field 7 rookies this season

The Sun City Saints' roster for 1976 includes seven rookies, but coach Thelma Keith doesn't seem worried.

"I'm even more satified than last year," she says. "They're outstanding."

The rookie list is headed by 20-year-old pitcher Melanie Kyler, who lost a narrow 1-0 decision to the Saints last season while playing for the Mission Viejo Saints.

MISSION Viejo folded this winter because too many players left to join the new women's professional softball league. Miss Kyler chose to stay in amateur ball and try out with the Saints.

Last year, pitching for Golden West College in Huntington Beach, Calif., Miss Kyler won the most valuable player award in the College World Series. She is finishing her sophomore year there now, and until the first week in June she will be shutfling back and forth between Saints' games and college

OTHER new rookies are Susie Gaw, a 15-year-old infielder and sophomore at Scottsdale High; Lisa Clinchey, an outfielder and first baseman who also is a Scottsdale High sophomore, and Deanne Clark, a senior catcher from Saguaro High.

Other rookies are Linda Coats, a 20-year-old former right fielder for the Phoenix Westerners; Kathy Gonzales, a 23-year-old in-fielder who was a Cactus Regional all-star last season at second base while playing for the Mammoth Rebels, and Susan Hughes, a 20-year-old catcher who played for the Phoenix Sandettes last year.

These newcomers will Join veterans Paula Noel, Marilyn Rau, Lynn Mooney, Ginger Kurtz, Lee Ann Easley, Cheryl Stice, Denny Buchanan, Judy Hoke, and Becky Rice.

trip to the Netherlands. Miss Kurtz is making progress recovering from knee surgery, but it is slower than she had an-ticipated. Her goal is to start running again around April 1 and to begin softball work as soon as possible after that.

AS FOR the coming season, coach Keith says she's optimistic with all the veterans returning and a good-looking bunch of Melony Barrett followed with a single to score Kelly.

The happiness didn't last long, however, as the Saints rallied for five in the bottom of that inning.
Two Oceanside errors

Melanie Kyler is ex-pected to be in Sun City to alternate with Paula next weekend, when the Saints take on the Albuquerque Spinners at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Sun City Stadium.

Mrs. W. Soolsma Board Softball Bondsburea Engelanliersgracht, 15 Postbus 3971, Amsterdam C.

Dear Mrs. Soolsma, On behalf of the Sun City Saints as our official delegation I would like to thank you for your playing schedule you have tentatively set up for the Saints from June 6 to June 18.

I recieved a letter from A. C. Williams, May 4, with reference to notes taken by Bob Preston (of Kachina Travel Agency) on his visit to you and your country. I will enclose all the data you requested plus additional information on the teams back ground.

The weather here has been rather unpredictable to date. Last week it was clear and almost 100 degrees every day and yesterday it poured and got chilly. We are somewhat used to playing on the California coast under chilly conditions so we will come prepared to play as you mentioned. By chilly do you mean around 40 or 50 degrees? We usually play in shorts but we will be bringing warm ups for cooler evenings.

The girls are becoming more excited about our stay in your country as the days are quickly moving along. We have started our season and are currently 8 wins and 0 losses.

We are not used to playing on to many gress indields but we can adjust quickly. I am checking on the International rules which were used in Stratford at the last World Series. I saw your International team play and they were quite a crowd pleaser!

The instructional clinics you mentioned will hopefully be

The instructional clinics you mentioned will hopefully be very beneficial to your players as well as coaches. We have been putting on player clinics to help raise money for our travel expenses so the girls are eager to help promote softball in your country. Looking at your playing schedule which Mr. Freston brought back, I noticed a few items I wanted to find out more information about if possible at this date. On June 7 you have us scheduled for clinics in the Eindhoven area. Does this mean one or two clinics? Also, how long do you want the clinics to be? Also, the same on June 16 and 17?

Again I would like to thank you and your country for this

I don't know if Mr. A.C. Williams or Mr. Preston mentioned this to you but we are plenning to extend our tour through the 23rd thru the United States Air Force while in Europe. They want us to play at various Air Force bases throughout Europe after we have visited your beautiful country. They will be responsible for picking us up and b'lleting us wherever we go. At this point it looks as if we will be playing at Shape Air Force Base in Belgium and Shesterbury, outside Amsterdam and possibly at Germany and Italian bases.

As a note of interest and by no way is this formalized, On

As a note of interest and by no way is this formalized, On the 7 and 9th of June clinics are scheduled on your agenda and the 9th states the Amsterdam area. If the Air Force wanted us to play in such areas or free time was available would this conflict with any social or cultural agenda you might already have set up? If not, please advise. As I mentioned earlier the Air Force would be responsible to take us anyplace we come or go. The families we are staying with of course would be our guests if we traveled during our stay in your country.

during our stay in your country.

It is such a beautiful day in Arizona today. Hopefully you may visit us some day. We have a beautiful stadium and a very proud team. Back to the notes I recieved from A.C. Williams from Mr. Preston and your questions.

The following is a breakdown on our official delegation who is part of the Sun City Saints, I have sent photos of people who are not players but are a very big part of the Sun City Saints.

Photo #1 Dr. R. Sauerbrum and wife Tad, who is an official chaperon. Dr. Sauerbrum is our Finance Director and has been instrumental in the Saints organization in helping us raise funds for this trip and helping us on our three week trip to South Africa last year. In fact it was my suggestion to him to send you a tentative schedule we might use guidlines when we arrive in Amsterdam. I hope it was not taken out of context! Doc has been like a God Father to the Saints and anything he Hoes is for our team. I have been very very busy at school, teaching, ceaching, writing articles, doing clinics, plus selecting two farm teams for the Saints as well as getting the Saints ready for opening night April 24. So you can see why I rely on Doc so much. I failed to advice you of his great help with the team so it is no wonder you were shocked when you received his tentative intinerary.

As you requested I will be doing all correspondence with you during our period of waiting until we arrive June 6. I did want you to know who Doc was because he is a very big part of our organization.

Photo #2 Beverly Dryer, owner and Franchise holder of the Saints will be coming along also. Bev is an original Saint who came to Sun City eleven years ago. She is the person who has created the "image" the Saints have projected over the years as being ladies and super ball players. She is the creator of the Saints!

Photo #3 Sheryl Knudds, Public Relations Director, will be coming also. She will be keeping a daily log on all our activities as well as taking slides, pictures of all our games, clinics, and your country so we can again prepare a program when we arrive back in the United States.

Photo #4 Kathy Rice, Promotional Sales Manager will be coming also. Kathy is our right hand gal in handling all our programs, autographed softballs, first aid etc on all our trips.

The following are the pairing up of the delegation to date that you requested. Would it be possible for you to send me the names, addresses and phone numbers of where each girl will be staying as soon as you have this worked out. I am bringing a young group of girls, average age 22, whose parents would like this information. Also we will be bringing gifts for the families where we stay and need to know if possible if they have children as it is our custom to have gifts for them!

on the custom to have gifts for them!

One more question; do you know if our Ambassodor has contacted your Mr. Gould about the Embasay? Please advise. Also find enclosed a special decade program of the past ten years of the Saints. Our regular 1976 program will be completed in one week and I will send you copies. Please find enclosed a 1976 team picture and a House Joint Resolution from the State making us the official good will ambassodors to the Hotherlands, Also an article from our local paper which gives you a brief sketch of each player. If you need additional information or photos please let me know.

Beide meisjes houden zich inten sief met de softballsport bezig. Naast de training voor The Herons volgen de training voor The Herons volgen ze wekelijks ook nog de training van Jong Oranje. Verder komt het meer-malen voor dat ze dubbels in het weekend moeten spelen. Kitty maakt zelf nog deel uit van de softballcommissie van het rayon Noord-Holland en ze gaat de jeugliselectie van het rayon Noord-Holland in Purmerend trainen. Mary heeft nog een pupillenteam onder haar hoede.

Beide meisjes vinden dit zeker niet teveel van het goede en doen dit bij-

Een belangrijke hand in de successen van The Herons zien zij in de komst van coach Huub Kouwen-

THE GIFT OF FRIENDSHIP

FRIENDSHIP is a PRICELESS GIFT that cannot be bought or sold, But its value is far greater than a mountain made of gold -For gold is cold and lifeless, it can neither see nor hear, And in the time of trouble it is powerless to cheer -It has no ears to listen, no heart to understand, It cannot bring you comfort or reach out a helping hand -So when you ask God for a GIFT, be thankful if HE sends Not diamonds, pearls or riches, but the love of real true friends.

SUN CITY SAINTS. Dit team uit Arizona speelt softball van wereldklasse. Het Nederlandse A-team, 5e bij de laatste wereldkampioen-schappen, verloor dit weekend vier maal kansloos van de Saints: 1-11, 1-6, 1-5 en 0-7. Ook Jong Oranje moest donderdag j.l. met 1-7 het onderspit delven. Sedert 11 jaren zijn de Sun City Saints kampioen van de Pacific Coast Womans Softball League. Hierdoor doen zij jaarlijks mee om het kampioenschap van Amerika. Hoogtepunt tot nu toe is de 2e plaats in 1974 achter het in die periode onverslaanbare Raybestos Brakettes. Dit seizoen gaan de Saints na 12 wedstrijien ongeslagen aan de leiding in hun afdeling. Tegenstanders in de Pacific Coast League zijn: Salt Lake City Shamrocks, Placentia en California. De ploegen spelen 8 x (!) tegen elkaar. En wij maar zeuren dat we na 3 keer op elkaar uitgekeken zijn en dat er naar andere tegenstanders uitgekeken moet worden .....

In deze teams worden jeugdspeelsters opgeleid voor het "grote werk". In het huidige Saints-team spelen 6 dames die vorig jaar na de "Nationals" verkozen zijn in het All-American All Star team: Judy Hoke, Marilyn Rau, Lynn Mooney, Paula Noel, Denny Buchanan en Lee Ann Easly. Naast een opvallend typisch Amerikaans tenue zult u vanavond nog een verschil ontdekken tussen Hollandse en Amerikaanse softballsters: het gebruik van chewing-gum.

De dames zijn zo bedreven in het blazen van "bellen" dat het lijkt alsof het "tekens" zijn. De werpsters van de Saints waren tot nu toe onbespeelbaar, Vrijdagavond in de dubbele ontmetin met het Ne-derlands A-team wonnen de werpsters Paula Noel en Me-lannie Kyler hun wedstrijd met de alleszeggende cijfers van 7-1-2 en 10-2-1. MARY VAN HEERWAARDEN De vraag of Nederland (naar Europese begrippen een toonaange-vend soft- en baseballand) de Verenigde Staten in deze sport zal kunnen benaderen, laat staan evenaren, is voor Kitty Liefting en Mary van Heerwaarden een fictie. Want, zo stellen zij, in de Verenigde Staten zijn de weersomstandig heden zo, dat het hele jaar door soft- en basebal kan worden uitge- oefend. Zodoende komt de Sun City Sazints in hun league achtmaal tegen eenzelfde tegenstander uit en, zoals in het programmablad voor de wedstrijd tegen Jong Oranje schamper werd opgemerkt "wij maar zeuren dat we na driemaal de zelfde tegenstander op elkaar zijn uitgekeken". de Staten zijn de weersomstandig

Growth amazing in girls' sports

(Ed. Note: Penny Butler is out of town. Her guest columnist today is Bey Dryer of the Phoenix Union High School District.)

as Specialist in Health, Physical taken place in our state at the high school level and the girls to participate in, but the big we really didn't have that many student boom has been in the past two years. aihletes.

Individual sports haven't increased percentage-wise like team sports because they were the established sports. The growth pattern is from 1972-73 to 1975-76 and includes all schools in the state that are members of the Arizona Interscholastic Association. The following recognized competitive sports have shown these increases: Archery 7%, Badminton 7%, Golf 2%, Gymnastics 13%, Swimming 20%, Tennis 8%, Cross Country 8%, Rifle (co ed) 5%, Basket-ball 36%, Softball 43%, Track 70%, Vol-

I believe it is safe to assume that the Civil Rights Act Title IX where "No person in the United States shall on the basis of sex be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance . . " has played an important role in our growth.

Our coaches have encountered problems that they didn't know existed, have met success and defeat, have seen a tremendous amount of pride in our young athletes and have experienced it as well. We have worked together with one goal in mind — to be competitive and have a well-rounded sports

In the past, our sports programs could be easily handled by the physical educabe easily handled by the physical educa-tion staff. The programs are more so-phisticated now, requiring us to go out-side the physical education departments for our coaching positions, either aff campus to an elementary leacher, another teacher on campus, graduate assistants, certified substitute list, or student leachers assigned to concluse as assistants, certified substitute fist, or student teachers assigned to coaches as assistants. This has given us flexibility in the selection of coaches. Many men-have come to our aid by accepting coaching positions in girls sports, and, I might add, have done very well.

At this point we only hope that the students are growing and becoming more highly skilled and that the coaches in some areas are growing with the students. We don't want the programs to stop growing, consequently we are willing to try just a little harder to make sure the proper steps are taken so that we can develon junior varsity levels on some sports and ultimately add fresh man teams.

Having added more sports, more As I look back on the past two years equipment, more coaches and more participants has made communication essential among the coaching staffs, administration, A.I.A. and the conferences. There has never been so many people involved trying to get a program off the ground, and a program that has meaning to all of those concerned.

I can look back to two years ago when I was teaching physical education at West High, and - even though the girls were competitive - there wasn't the opportunity for participation that there is now. We would work very hard at our have been able to meet the challenges. \( \) four sports - archery, badminton, golf Prior to 1972-73, we had few sports for and tennis - and now we realize that

公公公公 WHILE THE Sun City Saints were out of town, I journeyed to Tempe to take a look at the PhoenixBird, the local entry in the new professional women's softball

The PhoenixBird roster contains about five former Saints, and their opponents that night were the Santa Ana Lionettes, comprised mostly of the Saints' former traditional rival, the Orange Lionettes.

One episode was typical, I thought, of many Saints-Lionettes clashes. Carole Spanks, on the mound for the Lionettes, protested a called ball and asked the umpire-why he ruled it a ball. There seemed some confusion over what she wanted to know, and she repeated her question a couple of times. Finally, Shirley Topley shouted over from first base the ultimate criticism, "Was it low or high, Ump?"

IN THE STANDS I visited with two original Saints players—Betty McIlvain and Cotton Williamson. In the field I saw last year's Saints Denny Buchanan in center; Cheryl Stice (she was the offensive bright spot in the Bird's two losses that night) on third, and Linda Spradlety behind the plate. Unfortunately, Linda was spiked in a play at home and ended up with a wound that someone estimated it would take 20 sitthes to close.

On the sidelines, to round out my "old-home-week" experience, I chatted with Billie Harris and Lou Kostielney. Lou, long associated with the Saints as a pitcher and coach, now is pitching coach for the Birds. Billie, who apparently was headed for retirement at age 42 following her 1975 season with the Saints, is the Birds leading pitcher with something like six or s ven straight wins. She had been used heavily recently and was given a night off to rest

THERE HAD BEEN some talk over the winter that the Saints might join the new pro league as a unit, but the Saints might join the new pro league as a unit, but the team decided to remain in the Amateur Softball Association. From what I saw, I believe the Sun Citians would dominate the PhoenixBird and the Lionettes, and it is likely they would be the top team in the western.

division as now constituted.

It will be interesting to see what direction the Saints will take in the future. The problem with their current status is that they are just too dominant, and attendance has fallen off because many fans feel the caliber of the opposition is too low.

If the Saints can't support themselves because they are too good for the amateurs and if professional women's softball continues to show that it can't draw enough to handle the salari's it has to pay, we may end up with a championship team all dressed up and no place to go.

With the Saints being the only Arizona team in the Pacific Coast League, other opportunities to travel have been "unelievably great" for Paula.

It's exciting to me to see close to 35 girls getting basic fundamentals essential to playing the caliber of ball required for the Saints."

The Saints have an incentive to maintain the status quo: a 3,500-seat stadium at Sun City and built-in fans. "The older people at Sun City adopted us like daughters," exclaimed Paula.

But while the road to title.

So who will be? Even the Saints didn't know until they arrived in Connecticut early yesterday morning. However, some educated guesses can be made.

SUN CITY ought to get some tough opposition from the Kutis Funeral Home squad of St. Louis, for example. That team ousted the Saints from last year's national tourney and finished third.

St. Louis was led last year by the Guenzler sisters, Pat and Sue, who were named All-Americans along with four other teammates. In addition, Pat set a new national record with 14 hits in the tournament.

Other top finishers from last year who may be back last year who may be back in 1976 are the Lansing Laurels, who finished fifth; the Moline Redbirds, who finished sixth; the Orlando Rebels, who finished eight, and the 10th place team, the Bloomington Golddiggers. Sun City, at 62-3, certainly ought to have the finest record of any team in the nationals. It would be hard for anyone to be hard for anyone to improve on that mark: especially when you note that all three losses were by a single run each.
