Holiday cheer!

The crowd of smiling faces in the photo above was only a small portion of the group that came to Sun City West's first annual Christmas tree-trimming party. Residents' hand-crafted ornaments were used to decorate trees in the Social Hall and Sports Pavilion of Johnson Rec Center. The singing of Christmas carols and the partaking of cookies and fruit punch added to the holiday atmosphere.

Getting in shape for the 80s

Exercise and good health go hand-in-hand and Sun City West residents are well aware of that fact. Clockwise from above: a Wester exercises with dumbbells in the Johnson Center exercise room; the exercise room's rowing machine, which can be adjusted to the desired level of resistance, provides an excellent workout; the lat pulls are great for developing and strengthening the upper back and as the weights rise on the Universal exercise machine, the face reveals the strain; entrants in the Sun City/Sun City West Fitness Festival, many of them attired in "Off My Rocker — Into Fitness T-shirts," stretch prior to one of the exercise sessions in the Johnson Social Hall.

Fitness Festival slates "specials"

The Sun City/Sun City West Fitness Festival has scheduled three special events for the month.

At 2:00 P.M., Sunday, January 13, a group bike ride will be conducted in Sun City West. Entrants are invited to meet in the Crestview parking lot. There will be a two- and five-mile course.

Sundome Entertainment Director Don Tufts said persons still wishing to obtain selected seating should mail in their subscriptions soon.

Ticket sales have been heavy for all four series, Tufts said, with the Musical Arts Series being the most popular to date, followed by the Lecture Series, Dance Festival Series and Travel Film Lecture Series.

Special Sneak Preview brochures are currently available in Sun City West at the Crestview Restaurant, Johnson Recreation Center and the Sales Pavilion, and in Sun City at the Kings Inn and the Del E. Webb Administration Building.

Additional information on the Sundome may be obtained by calling the Box Office at 975-1900.

Out-of-town Westers offered 'Vacation Watch'

Sun City West residents who are planning to be out of town this summer are invited to sign "Vacation Watch" cards to have their homes checked by members of the Sun City West Sheriff's Posse.

Cards are available at the Johnson Recreation Center office, Crestview registration desk and local branches of First National and Valley National banks.

Cards should be signed and mailed at least 10 days before departure. Participants will have windows, door locks and garage doors checked during their absence. Newspapers and hand bills also will be picked up.

Posse members advise homeowners planning an absence to have mail stopped or picked up by a neighbor. Appliances and lights should be disconnected and a key should be left with a neighbor so a house can be entered in case of plumbing or electrical problems.

Try the Vacation Watch program. It works!

Many former minor league and college baseball players are represented in the Sun City-Sun City West Senior Softball league, but this pitcher must have been a former magician. And the Box Office continues to fill orders for tickets.

The Sundome's opening night — Saturday, September 13 — will feature Lawrence Welk, his orchestra and troupe. Welk also will be on hand for a matinee performance Sunday, September 14.

Public sale of tickets for both performances went on sale August 1. Sundome Entertainment Director Don Tufts urged local residents to buy their tickets early. "Once word spreads through the Valley," he said, "tickets will go fast."

“Women

Some people will lead you to believe that it's a man's world. Some people only associate recreational pursuits like woodworking, weight-lifting, playing pool and vigorous exercise with men. Fortunately, ideas like these went out with “ice” boxes and rumble seats. In Sun City West, the women do indeed play, too. They play on a daily basis, they play hard, and they play with a considerable amount of gusto. With the myriad activities available at the Johnson Recreation Center, both men and women enthusiastically meet the challenge, and experience many new ways to play that they never had time for in the past. And, along the way, they discover a multitude of talents they never knew they had before.

"DEVCO - Westers, speak - listen"

Approximately 3,000 Sun City West residents participated in the first community meeting between the Del E. Webb Development Company and the residents held October 10, in the Sundome. It was a productive give-and-take session, in which DEVCO President John W. Meeker brought the residents up-to-date regarding the Recreation Centers and the timetable for future development in the community. Residents responded to the open forum and voiced a variety of concerns which were then discussed. A second community meeting will be called by DEVCO officials during November to discuss the options available to the residents regarding the turnover of the Recreation Centers. A vote by the residents attending will determine what course of action will be taken. Please check the local newspapers for the exact meeting date and time. At Calendar deadline, these important aspects of the November meeting were not yet known.

SC Westers to present free Holiday Variety Show

Moving to Sun City West from New Jersey a year ago, Mrs. Terry Delaney shows members of the Sun City West Garden Club the size difference between a 5 lb. Persian melon and a 40 lb. watermelon, both grown in her backyard. The irony here is that neither Terry nor Francis her husband are melon eaters!

Sun City Westers, under the direction of Bill Friebohn and Bob Poterfield, will stage a free Holiday Variety Show for all residents of Sun City and Sun City West at 8PM, Wednesday, November 19, in the Sundome.

A full program of enjoyable entertainment has been put together which will feature vocalist Kay Kendall accompanied by the Ted Dziubek Ensemble; the Westernaires Chorale with soloist Helen Alexander; the Encore Round Dancers; skits by Theatre West Productions; and the Westerners Square Dancers.

Free tickets to this special evening of resident entertainment may be obtained from the Variety Show booth at the SCW Crafts Fair, and from a special table in the breezeway at Sundial Recreation Center in Sun City from 10AM to 2PM, November 7-8. Both the tickets and the seats in the Sundome will be handled on a first-come-first-served basis.

2nd Annual Crafts Fair to buzz with activities

The Arts and Crafts Village at Johnson Recreation Center will be the place to be in Sun City West for the Second Annual Crafts Fair on Friday and Saturday, November 7 & 8. Each day from 10AM to 4PM, those attending will find the courtyard in the Arts and Crafts Village turned into a showplace for the resident clubs. There will be art work, lapidary, silvercrafts, woodwork, needlecrafts, ceramics, copper enameling and much more. Above, Gerald Williams (left) and John Meeker, members of the Governing Board of RCSCW, outlined the three proposals for management of the Centers facilities, then the assembled membership carefully considered their vote as election monitors counted and tallied raised hands.

Recreation Centers membership authorizes DEVCO to continue management until break-even time

With more than 900 members of Recreation Centers of Sun City West, Inc., voting at a special membership meeting in the Sundome on November 21, it was decided that the Del W. Webb Development Co. will continue to manage the recreation facilities until a "break-even" financial point is reached. At the gathering, which was chaired by John Meeker, DEVCO President, members rejected two other proposals which had been offered to the membership by the Governing Board of RCSCW. Joseph Aubin, DEVCO executive vice-president; Gerald Williams, DEVCO chief legal counsel; and Meeker comprise the incorporating Governing Board.

The membership meeting, officially announced November 7, was called because members were concerned about the impending date on which DEVCO would turn over operations of the facilities to membership management.

The RCSCW incorporating articles required that the turnover of operations take place 18 months from the date of incorporation, March 1, 1981. Thus, the Governing Board developed alternative proposals which had to be voted upon by the membership.

The first two of the proposals called for DEVCO to continue managing the facilities, the third for the original turn-over date to be retained. The vote was overwhelming for the Webb Company to retain management; 892 hands went up in favor of the status quo as 20 monitors stood in the aisles of the Sundome and counted. Only 39 persons voted for the original turn over date.

In offering to continue management, the Governing Board presented two alternatives and this choice comprised the second vote. Members rejected that DEVCO continue management for a simple one-year period, or until March 1982, and decided instead that the break-even point should be the determining factor. Both proposals called for the establishment of an advisory committee to be elected from among SCW Rec Center members.

That advisory committee will consult with the Governing Board and serve as a communications link with the total membership. Meeker explained that any member of RCSCW who wishes to serve on the advisory committee may submit a resume of qualifications and background in 200 words or less to the Rec Center office before December 15.

All resumes received will be posted in full on the Rec Center office bulletin board from December 15 to January 15. A general membership election of nine persons to form the advisory committee will be held after that date at a time to be announced later.

The Broadway production of Victor Herbert's classic musical fantasy "The Babes in Toyland," updated for the 1980s, will play an extended pre-Christmas engagement at the Sundome beginning December 14.

Producers Fran and Barry Weissler have teamed with the wildly creative Sid and Marty Krofft, updating the original 1903 Herbert classic to create a musical Toyland where nursery-rhyme characters come alive and dance with the new Babes, a musical group who come to the aid of a down-and-out amusement park called Toyland, Inc.

This new production promises to be exciting and a true fantasy with superb sets and larger-than-life characters direct from Mother Goose.

Enjoyable entertainment for the whole family is the basis for this production, which is enhanced by elaborate studio soundtracks.

"The Babes in Toyland" will open at 7PM, Sunday, December 14. Performances are also scheduled at 8PM, Monday through Saturday the 20th, with a special Saturday matinee at 2PM as well.

For details and ticket information, contact the Sundome at 975-1900.

TV contract causes Osmonds postponement

The Osmonds' Christmas concerts originally scheduled for 2PM and 8PM, Saturday, December 13, in the Sundome have been postponed due to contractual obligations between Marie Osmond and the NBC television network.

When the new date for the Osmonds' show is announced, it will fall on a Saturday as before, with two shows at 2 & 8 PM.

The Osmonds were forced to cancel numerous national concert dates due to the NBC conflict. However, the Sundome concert is the only appearance that the group asked if they could postpone, due to their sincere desire to play in Sun City West.

All persons who purchased tickets for the December date, can use their tickets for the new concert date, with the times shown on the tickets remaining the same.

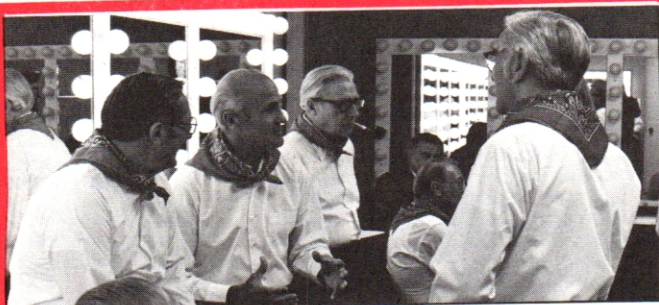

Those ticket-holders wishing to obtain refunds can do so. However, it is very important that those persons desiring a refund return their tickets to the point of purchase only.

Sundome patrons with Osmonds tickets purchased in a series package may also receive refunds. However, the refund will reflect the reduced series rate only.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Sundome Box Office at 975-1900.

Meanwhile, in the women's dressing room, female Westernaires exchanged stage notes with the Westerners Square Dancers.

Buying decisions

Difficult choices like "should I buy this for myself or someone else" emptied the tables during the second annual Crafts Fair, held in the Arts and Crafts courtyard of Johnson Recreation Center. The two-day event in early November featured art work, lapidary, silvercraft, woodwork, needlecrafts, ceramics, copper enameling, along with hundreds of precious holiday home decorations made by SCW clubs. Everyone enjoyed the warm sunshine along with the chance to purchase gifts early and get them readied for December's holidays.

Symphony opens

After 12 seasons performing in Sun City, the Sun City Symphony Orchestra opened in its new home, the Sundome. Eugene Fodor, internationally-acclaimed violinist was the guest artist, rehearsing here with the orchestra's founding conductor, Jennings Butterfield. The Symphony's December 7 concert will feature Anna Maria Alberghetti, soprano, and Gordon MacRae, baritone, in a program with Gordon Munford as guest conductor. The January concert will offer twin-pianists Jeffrey and Ronald Marlowe on the 25th.

Tree trimming party scheduled for SC Westers

Due to the popularity of the event last year, the Recreation Centers of Sun City West has coordinated a 2nd Annual Christmas Tree Trimming Party for all residents. All Westers who want to join in the fun should meet at 2PM, December 9, in Johnson Social Hall.

Four trees will be trimmed this year: one in the Social Hall; one in the Library; one in the Sports Pavilion; and one in the Administration Office. After the trees are all decorated, the party will return to the Social Hall for Christmas carols, entertainment by the new Sun City West choral group, the Westernaires, and refreshment.

The Sun City West Women's Social Club will serve as hostesses for this year's party. The admission price to participate remains unchanged from last year — all you need to do is bring a handmade Christmas ornament marked with your name and the year, and lots of holiday spirit!

The garden courtyard at the Sundome is not only a very appealing and popular place for theatergoers to meet before a show, but it has also served as the remote studio setting for one of the Valley's newest morning television shows. During the week of November 4-7, the west courtyard area was transformed into a studio for the live broadcasts of KTVK TV-3's "Eleven A.M. Arizona Show." Based on the success of this effort, the Sundome grounds will undoubtedly be used for more television productions in the future.

Surprise!

Rolf Westgard was ready October 30th for the regular early morning bicycling that he enjoys with friends from SCW Crestview Riders. Little did Rolf know that his 83rd birthday would be saluted when the gang arrived at his home with a birthday cake balanced on the handlebars!

"Welcome home!"

New residents of Sun City West got acquainted and were treated to coffee, donuts and helpful information during November's Newcomers Coffee hosted by DEVCO. The next coffee will get underway at 9:30AM, Thursday, December 18, in the Social Hall at Johnson Center. If you're a newcomer, you're invited. It's a great way to make new friends and start things off right in Sun City West!
